JOHNSON RALLY A Booming Success

The Johnson-for-President rally at the Odd Fellows hall, Saturday evening, was a most gratifying compliment to Senator Hiram W. Johnson's popularity in Campbell community.

Because of the movie in the larger hall, the banquet room had been arranged for, but through the kindness of the movie management, the larger hall was secured. And well it was, because the main hall was filled to seating capacity, it being necessary to bring in extra seats to accommodate the enthusiastic audience, who began to arrive early from the town and rural homes.

The Boys' Band, under the direction of W. C. Bohnett, marched down Campbell avenue, playing several pieces as a summons to the townspeople.

The meeting was called to order by H. C. Smith, as temporary chairman.

Mrs. Fremont Older, of San Francisco, was introduced, and gave a most enlightening resume of the accomplishments of Senator Johnson, and reasons why the people of California should support him for the presidency. She declared that it was high time that the West should stand for a Western man who had every chance to win. Mr. Hoover is not being boosted as a possible winner, but with the idea of discountenancing and defeating Johnson in his own state.

Col. Harris Weinstock, a strong and popular supporter of Senator Johnson, was next introduced, and gave a number of forceful and convincing argumetns as to why all ranks of laborers, farmers and business men should vote to support Mr. Johnson at the May primaries.

Mr. Hoover was undoubtedly aware of the unpatriotic and discriminating bartering in food products by members of his food administration staff, which worked untold hardship on those 100-per-cent farmers, the bean growers, beet growers and barley growers. What other classes of tradesmen or business men were also confidentially double-crossed by that organization of merchants has not yet come to light. Both speakers were well received, and enthusiastically applauded many times during their talks.

At the close of the meeting a Johnson-for-President Club was formed, electing H. C. Smith president, and R. G. Archibald secretary-treasurer. The district vice presidents have been seleted as given here: Mrs. E. I. Price, L. Woodard Cambrian; Mrs. Jennie Phelps, G. L. Parso, Hamilton; M. A. Ross, San Tomas; Mrs. Ellen R. Smith, Mrs. Luella Whitney, T. A. Robinson, Campbell; Mrs. A.A. Earl, Miss Louise Payne of Moreland. Papers were circulated thru the audience, that those who wished to join the Johnson club might sign. The membership of the Campbell auxiliary is as follows, to date:

O. P. Kimmell, L. L. Kimmell, H. M. Richmond, Mrs. H. M. Richmond, T. L. Sharp, S. C. Sharp, W. C. McCaughey, Mrs. S. Nefi, T. A. Robinson, A. W. Johnson, B. C. Grinnell, E. I. Price, J. C. Anderson, R. G. Dunning, Ed. Genasci, Ida M. Clendening, E. K. Clendening, Clara Baldwin, Mrs. Nancy Huntley, W. F. Mason, Mrs. Fannie Kelley, Antone Ferro, Catermea Ferro, Mrs. E. Lewars, L. A. Lewars, E. O. Evans, Mary A. Evans. James E. Huntley, Elwood B. Baugh, John F. Duncan, Mrs. E. A. Duncan, J. A. Kelley, G. L. Speegle, R G. Archibald, Mrs. H. C. Smith, Ellen Beebe, Luella Whitney, W. A. McIntyre, Maggie McIntyre, W. T. Alexander, Ellen R. Smith, Bora E. Ross, Huldah N. Parker, James Fablinger, M. A. Ross, T. S. Montgomery, J. J. McDonald, J. E. Hancock, B. O. Curry, S. G. Nelson, Geo. Husted, Mildred K. Husted, H. E. Dodge, L. Woodard, Joseph Bohnett, L. Genasci, Albina Genasci, J. K. Rhodes, A. Bargas, Adelaide M. Bargas, Addie Spagnoli, John L. Hagelin, Mrs. H. L. Cairns, Jannette L. Cairns, E. E. Sower, Emma E. Sower, Eugene Whitney, A. E. Sargeat, L. M. Beall, C. A. Beall, Fred Mau, Sol Jacobs, Geo. Isbell, Ivy M Frost, Mattie Curran, Geo. Phelps, Jennie Phelps, O. Strom, G. L. Parso, Elizabeth Parso, Mrs. A.A. Earl, Louise Payne, Mrs. E. I. Price, H. C. Smith

An unusual coup was pulled off in San Jose this week, when the Johnson forces took an advertisement inserted in a local paper by the Hoover backers and sent it to papers in Palo Alto, and other places, to be inserted as an advertisement, at their own expense.

The advertisement in question urged labor men to vote against Hiram Johnson because he had voted to put a brother union (the bar tenders' union) out of business. It is a sample of the practice of the Hoover adherents, who paint their candidate dry in dry territory, through their supporters in the churches, and wet in wet territory, by means of advertisements like the one mentioned.

The Johnson men equalized matters by sending Hoover wet propaganda into dry territory.

Something Cheaper;
An Old Friend Vindicated;
An Interesting Novelty.

Cheaper!

California Cheese is cheaper.

There is a drop, a drop of ten cents a pound, in the price of our mild cheese. But the price is the only change—the high food value and the delectable, creamy taste remain the same.

The olive scare is over.

And after all, it was olives in glass—not in tin—that made the trouble. So now you will not be afraid to indulge your appetite for the meaty flavor, the richness, the satisfying food qualities of Sunical Ripe Olives. They are 25c a pint, either in cans or in bulk—wholesome and delicious either way.

Here is something new.

It is Twink, a soap and dye in one.

Old clothes made new, or new clothes made to look different, with Twink. Buy a ten cent package of Twink in any one of the many colors and tints. Follow the simple directions. The results will be worth dollars. There are various soap dyes; but the one easiest to use, the one that gives an even color with the least effort, is Twink.

THIRD REPRIEVE GIVEN MAN IN DEATH HOUSE

Governor Stays Execution of Lapara, Convicted of Murder in 1917

San Francisco—For the third time Governor William D. Stephens granted a reprieve to Antone Lapara, sentenced to die for the murder of Mario Alioto, who was slain while sitting in an automobile on Columbus avenue on November 28, 1917. The reprieve expires June 25. As on the two former occasions, it is made in order to insure further study of the case by the Governor. The date for the execution was originally as within ninety days after May 2, 1918..

Alioto lived at 1622 Powel street, had been married two months, was 26 years old and a chauffeur employed by the San Francisco International Fish Company. Lapara was then 27 years old, lived at 1815 Powel street and worked for the Santa Monica Winery.

Lapara claimed to be innocent of Alioto's murder. He said he was a victim of a mistake in identity. Three days before the execution date Governor Stephens granted repreive until Fedruary 20, on the plea of Lapara's wife and two children, who wanted his life spared till after the holidays, and J. D. Hughes, a friend of Lapara, who said new evidence favorable to Lapara had been found. The second reprieve was granted on February 3.

JAPAN FAVORED BY RED CROSS, OFFICER HOLDS

Partiality in Siberia Put Lives in Jeopardy, Says Lieut. Myers

San Francisco—Assertions that the American Red Cross in Siberia showed partiality toward the Japanese there were made April 21 by Lieutenant Carl R. Myers of the Red Cross, who arrived on the transport Thomas. Lieutenant Myers places the blame on Richard B. Teusler, commander of the Red Cross in Siberia, and said that because of Teusler's attitude the lives of the Red Cross workers were placed in jeopardy.

Lieutenant Myers said:

During my work in Siberia I observed that the Japanese were constantly favored by the commander of the Red Cross, Richard B. Teusler. The spirit of the Red Cross work was ruined by this action. Our policy has been and should be an impartial treatment of all in need of our help. There naturally is a strong feeling existing between the Japanese and the Bolshevik element of Russia.

This naturally made our position uncomfortable and dangerous. The Bolshevik Goverment wanted us to stay, but demanded that we show impartial treatment of all. I believe this brought about the embarrassment that necessitated our withdrawal. Dr. Teusler is now at the head of a hospital at Tokio and for the last twenty-five years has been making his home in Japan.

It was only toward the end of our stay and after it had been stated that he would be withdrawn that the lives of members were in jeopardy, and that was only in the interior where many were forced to flee.

BERKELEY CHILD FOUND IN BAY

Boy, 7, Dies After Falling From Pier; Man Fails in Rescue Effort

San Francisco — John Mello, 7 years old, 2407 Tenth street, Berkeley, was drowned April 21 when he fell off the Berkeley municipal pier at the foot of University ave. Julius Irvin, a teamster, narrowly escaped a similar fate when he leaped into the water in an effort to save the struggling boy.

The boy, with Julius Zirzi, 11 years old, 2114 Byron street, had been playing on the pier all afternoon. Mello, while walking along the edge, suddenly lost his balance and fell into the water. Zirzi's screams attracted Irvin, who was passing, and he leaped into the water and swam after the drowning lad, who had already gone down twice.

When within a few feet of Mello, Irvin was seized with cramps and he, too, started to go down. R. L. Dorrang, 3020 Florida street, employed at the pier, threw a rope to Irvin and he caught it as he was about to sink. Mello was swept out into the middle of the stream by the strong tide and was lost from view.

The boy was the son of Alexander Mello, a butcher.

WIFE OF SLAYER GUILTY OF PERJURY

Jury of Men Returns Verdict After Less Than Three Hours Deliberation—Two Counts Dismissed

San Francisco—Guilty on nine counts and not guilty on two was the verdict rendered April 21 in the perjury trial of Mrs. Alice Harris Woodcock, whose husband, Edgar Woodcock, on the night of September 18, 1918, shot and killed Edward C. Kelley, declared by Mrs. Woodcock to have accosted her at Van Ness and Market. Mrs. Woodcock was charged with perjury as a result of her testimony in the trial in which her husband was acquitted of the murder charge against him.

A jury in Judge Ward's Court brought in the verdict at 8:15 o'clock p. m., after deliberating for two hours and a half. Howard J. Moore acted as foreman.

It is expected that an appeal will be taken immediately.

Mrs. Woodcock was found not guilty on counts four and nine of the indictment, the first referring to the manner in which she was alleged to have called her husband just before Kelley was killed, and the second referring to the words Woodcock was alleged to have spoken to her as he rushed past her toward Kelly.

Mrs. Woodcock was weeping bitterly when the verdict was announced, and although she hid her face in her hands and sobs shook her, she made no audible demonstration. Her whitehaired mother and her sister, who have been constantly at her side, broke down when the verdict was announced and wept.

Both were assisted from the courtroom, half-fainting. Many women friends of Mrs. Woodcock, who have been present at all the sessions and waited hours to hear the verdict, burst into tears.

Eleven counts charging perjury were made in the indictment. Those on which Mrs. Woodcock was found guilty were:

That she testified her husband and Cooper were going to the State Mining Bureau on the night of the shooting, whereas in fact they were not.

That when she came out of the library she was surprised to find the two men waiting for her, whereas in fact they were waiting in pursuance of a prearranged plan.

That Edgar Woodcock suggested walking back down Market street, retracing their steps in order to see if there were a policeman on the beat, whereas in fact this was not said and this was not the reason for the walk.

That she was told by detectives in the office of Captain of Detectives Matheson after her arrest that unless she made a statement regarding the events of the night she would not be allowed to see her husband and that certain items in the statement were suggested by questions, whereas in fact no threats were made and the statement was written down in her own words.

That she walked ahead of the two men on the evening expedition because they were talking confidentially, whereas in fact it was in pursuance of a prearranged plan.

That when Edgar Woodcock was attacking a young man in au automobile at the corner of Fulton and Larkin streets, Mrs. Woodcock told him to stop as the young man had had enough, whereas in fact she did not speak.

That Mrs. Woodcock testified that there was a discussion among the three of them over the presence of a policeman on Van Ness and Market, whereas in fact there was no such discussion.

That Mrs. Woodcock testified that she did not smile at men standing at the corner of Van Ness and Market, whereas in fact she did smile at them.

Golden declared after the verdict was announced that he regretted very deeply the necessitye of prosecuting the case against Mrs. Woodcock and that while his duty had forced him to wage a vigorous fight for her conviction, he sympathized very keenly with the woman facing a prison sentence and with her family and friends.

Large numbers of Mrs. Woodcock's friends attended every session of the trial, and the popular interest in the case attracted an audience that crowded the courtroom daily.

The trial opened on Monday morning April 12. During the entire period the jury was locked up.

Frank P. Roop, Vice-President of Shreve & Co., Is Victim of Accident on Geary Street

San Francisco—Frank P. Roop, vice-president of Shreve & Company, jewelers, drove his automobile into the rear of a garbage truck at Geary and Leavenworth street shortly after 4 o'clock a. m., April 21, and died a few moments later at the Central Emergency Hospital.

His wife, who was with him in the machine, escaped injury. She called a taxicab and had her husband taken to the hospital. Then she broke down and was unable to describe the accident to Policeman Franklin K. Lane.

Roop and his wife had been entertaining Carl Stanley, manager of the Del Monte Hotel, in their home, 14 Shoreview avenue, and had driven him to the Hotel St. Francis. They were returning home when the accident occurred. Roop's chest was crushed against the steering wheel. Mrs. Roop was in the tonneau seat.

Tony Chapero, the driver of the truck, was arrested, but was released when he proved that the taillight on the truck was burning and that the truck was equipped with turning signals. He said he was traveling at a slow speed and Roop's car threw his truck nearly thirty feet.

Roop was born in Calistoga, Cal., but spent most of his life in San Francisco. He was in the United States transport service shortly after the Spanish-American war and later joined Shreve & Company.

A few months ago he was elected vice-president of the firm. Roop was an expert on precious stones and frequent journeys to New York as a buyer for his firm.

FROM A BAMBOO CRADLE TO A BAMBOO COFFIN

Have you a little bamboo in your home? The Filipino has, and he can't understand how other peoples live without it.

"Bamboo constitutes the whole or a part of everything made in the Philippines," says Corporal E. Shura, of the Marine Corps Recruiting Station, 320 Market Street, San Francisco, Calif.

"From the cradle to the grave it is indispensible to the Filipino. He lives in a bamboo house, his cradle is made of bamboo, it is part of his food, he cooks with it, his household utensils and equipment are made of it, he farms, fishes, fights and is entertained with it, he makes a certain kind of beer from its seeds, and his coffin and tombstone are bamboo.

"From foundation to roof his dwelling place is entirely bamboo. Not a nail, nor a bit of iron enters into the work of construction. He cooks in the hollow joint of a green bamboo over a blazing heap of bamboo twigs. Bamboo sprouts and seeds are eaten. His drinking cup and his water pail are made from hollow bamboo. He carries a heavy load by deftly balancing a bamboo pole on his shoulder.

"His musical instruments are made entirely of bamboo. So are his agricultural implements, his fish traps and fishing gear, and his weapons of war.

"When at last he dies, he is carried to his grave in a bamboo mat suspended from a bamboo pole, his grave is dug with a bamboo scoop, and a bamboo cross is his only monument."

OFFICER TELLS VIVID STORY OF EXECUTIONS

Japanese Cut Heads of Captured Reds Off With Heavy Saber

San Francisco—Vivid descriptions of the execution of captured Bolshevists by the Japanese in Russia were given by Captain A. Millard of the 27th Infantry, who returned from Siberia on the Army transport Logan.

Millard told how five Bolshevists captured by the Japanese were brought into Sviagina last July and were led out under heavy guard to dig their own graves. When the graves were excavated to a sufficient depth, according to Millard the prisoners were lined up near the grave with their hands tied behind them. A Japanese officer then started down the line and with his sable grasped tightly in both hands, struck off the heads of the condemned men as he came up with them.

Capt. N. C. Killiam, also of the Twenty Seventh Infantry, who returned on the Logan, said that the number of Japanese in Siberia is overestimated and, in his opinion, the Japanese soldier is not nearly as game as the American "doughboy". It takes an army of several hundred Japanese to do the work a handful of Americans would call child's play." said Killian.

FINANCIER HURT; LOSES COURAGE

Wealthy Stanford Trustee Dies at Palatial Home at Los Altos

San Francisco—Percy T. Morgan, a director of the Union Trust Company of San Francisco and a trustee of Stanford University, ended his life April 16, in his home at Los Altos, one of the finest residences in California.

Ill-health is given as the motive for Morgan's self-destruction.

Morgan, who was 57 years old, eluded his wife and servants shortly after 8 o'clock a. m., seized a shotgun from a rack in the gunroom and sent a charge of shot through his heart. The body was found by Andrew Lyon, Morgan's caretaker.

Morgan had been made despondent, according to his wife, as the result of an automobile accident November 25 near Salinas, in which he suffered a broken collar bone, and internal injuries.

In an effort to regain his health Morgan went to the Johns Hopkins clinic in Baltimore, but obtained no relief.

Upon his return to Los Altos Morgan became so despondent that a guard of servants was maintained to prevent Morgan from doing himself bodily harm.

Morgan is survived by a widow and two sons, both of whom were in the United States service during the war. The elder, Percy T. Jr., is in San Francisco, and the other, Jack, is in New York City. Mrs.

CALOMEL TODAY, SICK TOMORROW

Dose of nasty calomel makes you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—Adv.

Costs little, benefits much.

Laugh When People Step On Your Feet

Try this yourself then pass it along to others. It works!

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone tell him to order a small bottle for you!—Adv.

MAY 4TH

Mrs. Williams Hostess

On the afternoon of April 21, the charming vine-clad rose-covered veranda of the lovely country home of Mrs. Harry Williams, on San Tomas Road, was the scene where a happy group of ladies of Campbell and vicinity assembled to hear a discourse on India, by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Henry, of the Pundita Circle. The program was opened with a duet, "Rule Britannia," played by Mrs. Williams and daughter Florence. Mrs. H. A. Watrous, of Gilroy, sang "On the Road to Mandalay." The papers of Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Henry showed that much research work had been done.

Mrs. Williams spoke of India as a very fascinating subject, but so vast that only the most important facts could be touched upon. The numerous languages, (145 in number) different religions, castes, and 295,000,000 of swarming humanity, all go to make up a problem almost too deep to solve, but the establishment of British rule in India has no parallel in the history of the world. Three-fifth of the people are farmers, and and they raise great crops of wheat, rice and vegetables to feed the population. Labor is cheap, and old H. C. L. does not trouble India, except in times of famine.

A description of Taj Mahal, a dream of frozen marble, the handsomest mausoleum in the world, with a setting of rose gardens, was like a gem from fairyland, and the mystery and glamour of the Orient combined. India is famous for its textile fabrics, shawls, silks, woodcarving, silver and gold wire work, brasses and weapons; and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Barnes had an elaborate display of handsome Benares brasses, copper jars and vases covering one table while silk shawls, fine embroideries, cushions, heavy inlaid silver platters and nicknacks were displayed upon another table, and silken draperies and beautiful rugs from India, adorned the parlors.

A chant of Indian music by Mrs. Williams served as an interlude, after which Mrs. Henry read a paper on Ceylon tea from the time of its harvesting by the coolies to its grading for market. She also told of the forms of heathen worship and origin of their gods, and as a finale read a description of the Himalayas by Dr. and Mrs. Workman. Mrs. Workman has the distinction of being the only woman who has ever climbed to the top of the world, a glacial peak 23,394 feet high.

Mrs. Watrous gave a synopsis of Lalla Rookh, by Sir Thomas Moore.

Refreshments of rice pudding, cheese sandwiches, cookies and tea, were served to about 30 ladies, who had responded to roll-call with quotations from Kipling. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss May Forbes, 620 Myrtle avenue, College Park, May 7, when the subject will be England.

Hoover Rally

The Hoover colors held their rally at Campbell Wednesday with Messrs. Eugene Sturgis and James Hyde as speakers.

The house was fairly well filled with almost an equal division of Hoover and Johnson adherents who listened very attentively to Messrs. Sturgis and Hyde, the speakers of the evening.

C. H. Whitman, chairman of the meeting, introduced the speakers with a few side lights on the issues from his viewpoint.
